Event Honoree

Anne is a Sumter County “home-grown” girl. She moved here with her family when she was three and graduated from South Sumter High School. Her father was a principal at Webster Elementary School and her mom taught, up until her retirement, at Bushnell Elementary. Anne was involved in Girl Scouts for six years, played softball in Webster’s recreational league, and took dance instruction for many years, using her talent in tap dancing to win the title of Miss Sumter County.

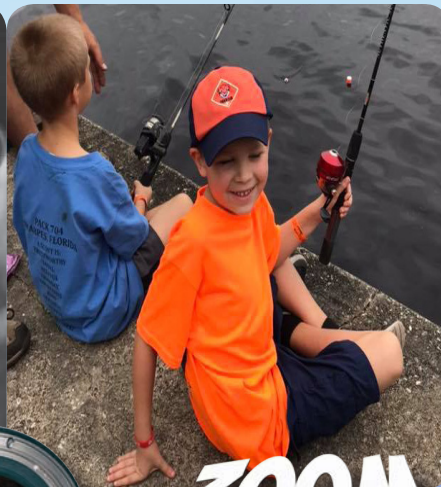

Anne graduated from Florida State University with a degree in Merchandising and was a member of the Delta Zeta Sorority. She was recruited by Federated Department Stores (Burdines) and moved to South Florida where she quickly progressed and became their college recruiter. After six years with Burdines, she left for an opportunity with Office Depot in their corporate office and created their National College Recruiting program. During this time she had the opportunity to travel around the country working with college students for Office Depot’s internships and management training programs.

With her three children, she moved back to Sumter County 15 years ago and felt God’s call on her heart to teach. Anne was able to get her teaching certification through the state’s Alternative Certification program and taught English and AVID at South Sumter High School until she was recruited to the position of Director of Church Administration for New Covenant United Methodist Church.

During her time at NCUMC, Anne, greatly, has been able to pursue her desire to work with and help teenagers by creating the Wildwood Middle High School Mentor Program. Currently in its sixth year, the program is working with 60 students, 8th – 12th graders, by providing one-on-one weekly mentoring. These mentors move up with their students and remain with them during their five years of school. Upon graduation, those students receive scholarships that enable them to continue with their education or technical training.

Anne has been blessed to be married to her husband, Steven Hill, for the past four years. One of her greatest joys are her three children; Olivia, who is pursuing her marketing degree at the University of South Florida, St. Petersburg; Lindsey, a student-athlete at Pasco-Hernando State College and on their softball team, and Andrew, who is a freshman in high school and is a Star Scout and Senior Patrol Leader for Boy Scout Troop 439. Anne and her family reside in Bushnell with their dogs, goats, and chickens.
